

SKYSCRAPER

by Robert Byrne

Sixty-six floors of granite and glass, the Zalian Building looms high above Manhattan, a monument to owner Aram Zalian's financial empire. But one stormy day two people are killed when a window blows out on the sixtieth floor. Serious questions begin to arise about the building's safety. Were too many corners cut when it was built? Is the whole building shifting on its foundations?

Engineer Brian Mitchell is brought in for consultation, and to his horror he uncovers dangerous flaws in the skyscraper's design and construction. As the tower's stability weakens, disaster seems inevitable . . .

A novel of riveting suspense by the author of The Dam.

THE OTHER SIDE OF PARADISE

by Noel Barber

Koraloono's spellbinding magic masks a terrible reality—for this tiny Pacific island is plagued by outbreaks of polio. So when Kit Masters, a young doctor with a special interest in the disease, is forced to leave England, he welcomes the opportunity of emigrating to this otherwise earthly paradise.

He soon finds more than a medical challenge on the island, for he falls in love with the beautiful daughter of a local princess. But World War II is looming, and threatens to destroy his idyllic life.

Noel Barber's latest bestseller will sweep you away to an exotic world of hot-blooded passion and matchless excitement.

A DEADLY PRESENCE

by Hjalmar Thesen

For Jean Mannon, an attractive young widow, the lush green countryside surrounding her farm at Knysna in Southern Africa is as close to paradise as anyone could find. For zoologist Cliff Turner, it is the ideal environment for observing leopards in their natural habitat.

Yet stealthily, amid the forests and villages of the Southern Cape, a leopard is on the prowl that will bring terror to this peaceful Eden. It is jet-black, and wounded, and it has in its desperate fight for survival earned the chilling name of man-eater.

From first page to last, this is an enchanting novel, with rare insights into African wildlife and an untamed beauty all of its own.

CAMPBELL'S KINGDOM

by Hammond Innes

Bruce Campbell Wetheral was his grandfather's sole heir. But his unexpected inheritance was worthless—a remote territory high up in the Canadian Rockies—and as luck would have it there was an eager purchaser conveniently standing by.

Soon, Bruce discovers that Campbell's Kingdom may be far more valuable than at first it seemed. And his determination to continue Stuart Campbell's search for oil is only strengthened when the forces of commercial self-interest range themselves against him. After all, he has nothing to lose, for Bruce has only six months to live . . .

Campbell's Kingdom is Hammond Innes's great classic of high adventure, tension and romance.
